Face cards such as jack, queen, king, as well as 10, have a value of 0, an ace – 1 point, and all other cards are valued at their face value In each round, the dealer deals two cards to the player and two cards to themselves. The goal of the game of baccarat is to get a hand as close as possible to 9 points. In the online game baccarat, players can bet on the player's hand, the dealer's hand, or even on a tie. Learn more about how to play live online casino games at Stake, and gain the skills needed to win at virtual tables! Origin of the name "Baccarat" The history of the origin of the game Baccarat in casinos is a matter of debate; however, according to one version, the name itself comes from the name of its creator – the Italian Felix Falguiere. There is another opinion that the name comes from the Italian "baccara", which translates as "zero", because all tens and face cards are equated to zero. As the game spread throughout Europe, the French name "Baccarat" became widely used throughout the world over the centuries. Today baccarat is played in casinos around the world, and it was popularized by James Bond, who, when infiltrating casinos, was always at the top of his game at the baccarat table.

- Free online blackjack games A wide selection of the best online blackjack games Our platform offers an extensive collection of blackjack games designed for any type of player. On Stake.com we combine classic table games with modern formats, making the gameplay dynamic and easy to understand. Blackjack is the foundation of the Stake game lobby. The rules of the game are simple and do not require long study, however, balanced decisions and a strategic approach can significantly influence the result in the long term. Compared to other categories, blackjack is distinguished by a relatively low house edge , which maximizes the winning potential for all participants. Having understood the rules and basic bet types, you can easily master this game at a high level. Read on to learn more about the possibilities of playing blackjack at casino Stake . Popular types of online blackjack Stake has combined all versions of blackjack into a single lobby with convenient navigation. Access to all games in one place allows you to easily compare formats and find the option that best suits your style. We offer only verified content from licensed operators that has passed all fairness checks. Among the most interesting releases, it is worth highlighting Blackjack Lite from Quick Deal, Stake Blackjack from OneTouch and Stake Original Blackjack. You can freely switch between classic tables, Live blackjack and modern variations within one section. The drop-down menu allows you to sort games by provider , novelty or popularity. Blackjack from the Stake Originals< seriesh3> Stake Original Blackjack focuses on transparency and full control. The game is built on a provably fair system, which allows you to verify the result of any round. This provides a level of trust that is not always available in standard online versions. Our version of blackjack features the lowest house edge in the industry – only 0,57%. Thus, theoretical return to player (RTP) in blackjack from the Stake Originals series is 99,43%. In the long term, this difference is of key importance: A low casino edge provides more opportunities for effective balance distribution across many deals. Live blackjack games on Stake The Live blackjack format adds a human factor to the process. A real dealer runs the game at the table, and you watch each deal in real time. This atmosphere is as close as possible to the environment of a classic gaming hall and is ideal for users who prefer a measured pace and social interaction. Third-party and exclusive versions of blackjack Stake offers a wide selection of blackjack formats from leading industry providers. In one section you will find versions such as Infinite Blackjack, Lightning Blackjack, Speed Blackjack, Free Bet Blackjack and Power Blackjack. Each modification brings its own adjustments to the game dynamics. For example, Speed Blackjack significantly reduces the waiting time between deals, while Infinite Blackjack allows an unlimited number of users to participate in the same round. Advantages of playing with a live dealer on Stake Live dealer blackjack broadcasts are conducted from professional studios in real time. This creates a full immersion effect and a high level of trust: you do not depend on animation, since the entire card handling process takes place directly in front of the camera. Features and format of Live blackjack Live blackjack is a streaming version of the classic game, where the table is managed by a real dealer, and players place bets through an interactive online interface. The rules in such games remain traditional, however, the presence of chat and visual contact create an atmosphere as close as possible to a real hall. Popular formats: Infinite, Speed, VIP and others In Infinite Blackjack, tables are always open to any number of participants, so rounds are never empty. Speed Blackjack is focused on quick decision-making: the dealer acts as promptly as possible, which minimizes pauses between deals. VIP tables offer higher limits and a more private setting. At the same time, games such as Lightning Blackjack from Evolution Gaming are supplemented with random multipliers that can significantly increase the potential payout. Our lobby features popular titles from Pragmatic Play: Blackjack Live One Blackjack Live Brazilian One Blackjack Live Turkish One Blackjack Live Games from Evolution Gaming are also available: Blackjack Live Infinite Free Bet Blackjack Live Blackjack Party. Power Blackjack Live Easy Blackjack Live Infinite Fun Fun 21 Blackjack Live Basics of playing blackjack at casino Stake The main goal in blackjack is to beat the dealer without exceeding the total of 21 points. The basic rules can be mastered in just a few minutes, however, developing and honing an effective strategy will require much more time. Goals of the game and card values Your task is to score more points than the dealer while staying within 21 points. Number cards correspond to their face value, while Jack, Queen and King are valued at 10 points. An Ace can count as either 1 or 11 points – depending on what is more advantageous for your hand. It is at this stage that the choice between a “soft” and “hard” hand becomes important. If the sum of your first two cards is exactly 21, you receive a payout at a ratio of 3:2. Breakdown of the main actions: hit, stand, double or split Below are the key moves in blackjack and the decision-making logic:

- Dai is a popular stablecoin cryptocurrency that can be used for betting on the Stake platform.
- DON networks were created to solve the smart contract problem where, due to the security model of blockchain networks, smart contracts ended up isolated and could not connect to systems outside the chain.

How online slots work Playing online slots is very simple: just choose the bet size, start spinning the reels, and wait for matching symbols to land or special features to activate. At the same time, each game has its own rules, paytable, and bonus options. RTP and volatility: impact on gameplay The indicators of RTP and volatility determine the dynamics of the game over the long run. RTP (return to player) shows the average percentage of funds that the game returns to users over a long session. Slots with high RTP have a low house edge , which slightly increases your chances of success. Volatility determines how often wins occur and what their potential size is. For example, low-volatility games are suitable for long sessions, since small payouts occur more often in them. High-volatility slots give wins less often, but they can be significantly larger. Ultimately, the choice depends on your goals, play style, and budget. How the RNG ensures the fairness of every spin Every spin is controlled by a random number generator (RNG). This system produces results that cannot be predicted or influenced. The RNG runs continuously, even when no one is playing, guaranteeing the fairness of gameplay throughout the industry. When you start a spin, the system records the result at that exact moment. Therefore, each spin is an independent event. This means that past results do not affect subsequent rounds in any way. A losing streak does not increase the probability of success in the future, and a big win does not reduce the chances of luck in the next spin. Breakdown of symbols and bonus features Symbols – this is the basis of the mechanics of any slot machine. Wilds help complete winning combinations, Scatters often unlock access to free spins, and multipliers can increase the final payout. Some games also feature other special symbols. Play Casino Games High Return Online

- This page presents a collection of popular slots in which payouts are generated more often than in many other slot machines. The RTP level in these games is exclusive to Stake.com and is not found on other platforms.
- from provider Pragmatic Play has an indicator of RTP 98%. The maximum payout ratio in it is 5000x. Also in the game you can purchase a bonus mode to double the chances of winning in individual rounds, and during free spins multipliers apply to subsequent payouts.
- is fixed on the reels during the free spins function. The maximum payout can reach 10 000x of the initial bet in any spin of the main game, and the RTP indicator is 98,02%.
- To do this, it is enough to divide the total amount of slot payouts by the total volume of bets made. Although this data is not always available to regular players, we strive for transparency and show how simply RTP is determined.
- For example, imagine that in one month the volume of bets in a video slot amounted to 1,5 million credits, and the sum of payouts to players — 1,42 million credits. Let's perform the following calculation:
- directly from your wallet and go to slots and classic table games immediately after the deposit is credited.
- Slots with increased RTP — play with the highest return-to-player indicators only on Stake! Launch modern slots with some of the highest return-to-player (RTP) indicators in the industry on Stake . When choosing a quality online slot, experienced players often focus on the RTP indicator. This indicator reflects the amount of funds that can be expected to be returned during a gaming session. This page presents a collection of popular slots in which payouts are generated more often than in many other slot machines. The RTP level in these games is exclusive to Stake.com and is not found on other platforms. Below we will explain in detail what the RTP indicator means and why it is important. We will also present a list of the best video slots with high RTP and providers supplying casino Stake with premium games with exclusive bonus rounds and features. What does the return-to-player indicator (RTP) mean? Understanding how the RTP indicator works in online slots is easier than it seems. Imagine a slot with an indicator of RTP 100%. This would mean that over an average gaming session all staked funds are returned in full — no more and no less. Today the average RTP indicator in online slots is around 96%. This means that for every 100 units staked, over the long term around 96 units are returned. Of course, over the short term results may differ, bringing either a higher or a lower return from the bet. Slots with high RTP have an indicator above 97%, and sometimes it reaches 98–99%. Which slots with the highest RTP are presented in the casino Stake? Knowing the importance of the RTP indicator, you can consciously choose slots for playing. If you are looking for slots with high RTP on Stake, we recommend starting with the following games: Gates of Heaven: fantasy slot Gates of Heaven from provider Pragmatic Play has an indicator of RTP 98%. The maximum payout ratio in it is 5000x. Also in the game you can purchase a bonus mode to double the chances of winning in individual rounds, and during free spins multipliers apply to subsequent payouts. Lucky Phoenix Megaways: the mechanics of slots in the Megaways line is deservedly considered one of the best in the industry. In Lucky Phoenix the Megaways mechanic is used, giving up to 117 649 ways to win in any spin of the main game. The slot is made in an East Asian theme, has an indicator of RTP 98% and a house edge at the level of 2%. Wild West Bounty: the action of the slot Wild West Bounty from Pragmatic Play unfolds in the Wild West, where you have to search for the Wild symbol. This special symbol is fixed on the reels during the free spins function. The maximum payout can reach 10 000x of the initial bet in any spin of the main game, and the RTP indicator is 98,02%. Who creates slots with high RTP? If you are interested in games with a high RTP indicator, pay attention to the provider Pragmatic Play . This developer is known for slots with high RTP and, thanks to award-winning software, is among our key suppliers. Video slots with high RTP from Pragmatic Play are fully licensed and have passed independent certification at Gaming Labs, which confirms the safety and fairness of the game. Advantages of games with high RTP and our tips for winning One of the most useful tips for anyone playing casino games with high RTP is to always check volatility and the RTP level. Ideally, you should choose slots with high RTP and low volatility, bringing frequent but small wins. Slots with high RTP and high volatility pay out larger amounts but less often. Learn all about slot volatility in our detailed guide . It is important to consider that in online slots with a progressive jackpot the RTP indicator is usually significantly lower than the industry average. This is explained by contributions to the prize pool: part of each bet made goes toward forming the growing jackpot. We also want to emphasize the importance of managing your gaming budget. Regardless of the RTP level of the chosen slot, allocate a strictly defined amount of funds for one session. How is the RTP indicator calculated? You can calculate a slot's RTP indicator yourself using a simple formula. To do this, it is enough to divide the total amount of slot payouts by the total volume of bets made. Although this data is not always available to regular players, we strive for transparency and show how simply RTP is determined. For example, imagine that in one month the volume of bets in a video slot amounted to 1,5 million credits, and the sum of payouts to players — 1,42 million credits. Let's perform the following calculation: 1 420 000 divided by 1 500 000 = 0,94666 0,94666 x 100 = 94,66% In this example, the slot's RTP indicator is 94,66%. This result is below the industry average, which may have several causes. Most often the reason lies in the presence of a progressive jackpot, since wins in such slots occur less often. Additional casino bonuses and exclusive VIP program If you are new to the casino Stake and are just getting acquainted with popular slots with high RTP and other games, getting started is very simple. - In a game of Bars, 30 random floats between 0.0 and 1.0 are generated and used as the probability to select the winning bar from a predefined payout table. This payout table can be found at the footer of the Bars game and in the provable fairness verification calculation page.

- In a Cases bet, a single random float between 0.0 and 1.0 is generated, which is used as the probability to select the winning case from a predefined payout table. This payout table can be found at the footer of the Cases game and in the provable fairness verification calculation page.
- In a Tarot bet, three random floats between 0.0 and 1.0 are generated — one for each arcana card from the left to right. Each float determines which arcana card is selected from a predefined payout table. The first and third cards are drawn from the Minor Arcana (displayed as grey cards), while the second card is drawn from the Major Arcana (displayed as a gold card). The Minor and Major Arcana each have their own probability mapping ranges for each difficulty level. The payout table is available at the footer of the Tarot game and in the provable fairness verification calculation page. The final multiplier is calculated by multiplying the multipliers of all three generated arcana cards.

- In a Packs bet, five random floats between 0.0 and 1.0 are generated, one for each card in the pack. Each float is used as the probability to select a card from a predefined payout table containing 240 unique cards with different multipliers and rarities. This payout table can be found at the footer of the Packs game and in the provable fairness verification calculation page.
- // Index per payout configuration
- const PAYOUTS = {
- const spin = PAYOUTS[segments][risk][float * segments];
- Special spins are slightly different. For a start only 12 floats are taken from your hash, as the outer reels are disabled. Between each special spin, any samurai symbols stay in place for the remainder of the game, with the payout being the final count of samurais. This means that if you were to have for example 1 samurai stick in the first spin - we'd technically only need 11 floats for the subsequent spin. For the sake of simplicity in the probably fair model, we just generate 12 floats every time, and if the float that was allocated for a tile has a stuck samurai from a previous spin, then that float is not used at all.

- Bonus buy slots – the best games with the option to directly purchase bonuses
- Bonus buy slots are consistently popular because they allow you to access
- special features
- In this review we will look at the best bonus buy slots, examine the rules of the game and explain how to play them and what you need to know before you start spinning the reels in
- What is bonus buy and feature buy in slots?
- with the bonus buy feature are games in which you can purchase access to bonus features. For a certain fee you get the opportunity to immediately open the main bonus round instead of waiting for it to be activated naturally through
- Scatter symbols
- base symbols
- Is it worth playing bonus buy slots?
- Whether buying a bonus is justified depends solely on what exactly you expect from playing online slots. If you enjoy the thrill
- of high-volatility games
- , where every spin can lead to an explosive result, you will probably be more interested in waiting for the bonus to trigger naturally.
- However, if it frustrates you when bonus symbols land too rarely, the ability to trigger a bonus round at any moment and play it as much as you like may prove far more attractive. Ultimately only you can decide whether a small fee to trigger a bonus is worth it or not.
- Bonus buy or Ante bets?
- The main difference between bonus buy and Ante bets lies in the way you access the bonus round. Bonus buy means that you directly purchase access to the game's bonus round. In this case you do not need to play the base game at all to activate it. Ante bets mean that you usually pay a smaller amount for each spin in the base game to increase the probability of bonus symbols or Scatter symbols landing on the reels.

How to bet on tennis and odds On Stake.com you can choose the odds format that suits you – decimal, fractional or American – and also familiarize yourself with the tennis betting options. Match betting/main bets Bet on the winner (Head to head). The simplest way to place a tennis bet is to bet on the winner (often called a "head to head" bet in tennis). Choose the winner of the match, and the odds depend on how likely it is that one player will beat the other. Correct score. In tennis, you can bet on the exact score of the match. So, if you believe that Nadal will beat Djokovic in two sets in a straight-sets win at the upcoming ATP tournament, you can bet that the score 2:0 will be exact for that encounter. Over/Under (total games) . Another popular tennis bet is a bet on how many games you think will be played in the match. For example, if Sakkari and Gauff meet in a three-set match, the totals line might be set at 22.5 games. Your task is to bet on whether more or fewer games will be played than the totals line states, which is most often called "over/under", respectively. Handicap . A handicap bet is a great way to level the situation in your betting slip. The favorite is given a deficit that they must overcome, while the other player receives an advantage. A handicap of 3.5 games may be given to the underdog, which means that the favorite you are betting on needs to win the set by at least 4 games to cover the handicap and win your bet. Double result (1st set/match). You can also place a double bet on a tennis match, where you select the same player to win the first set and then the whole match. This is an effective way to increase the value of your bet. Set betting Winner of the X set (choose the winner of a specific set). How many times have you seen tennis matches go on court after court? This is an interesting bet – betting on which player you think will win each set in the match, rather than simply choosing the overall winner. X total games in a set (over/under). Another popular set bet in tennis is predicting the number of games that will be played in a set. The line may be set at 8.5, in which case you need to predict whether more or fewer games will be played in that set. Correct score of the 1nd set. The first set in a tennis match is often unpredictable, but this is a great opportunity to predict the correct score of the two players. Whether it is 6:2 or 5:7, you can bet on the expected outcome of the first set to increase the value of your bet. Exactly X sets. Betting on the exact number of sets in a specific tennis match is another way to increase the amount of your bet on a tournament. Provable fairness, conversions

- Bytes to Floats

- The output of the Random Number Generator (byteGenerator) function is a hexadecimal 32-byte hash. As explained under the cursor implementation, we use 4 bytes of data to generate a single game result. Each set of 4 bytes are used to generate floats between 0 and 1 (4 bytes are used instead of one to ensure a higher level of precision when generating the float.) It is with these generated floats that we derive the formal output of the provable fair algorithm before it is translated into game events.
- // Convert the hash output from the rng byteGenerator to floats
- function generateFloats ({ serverSeed, clientSeed, nonce, cursor, count }) {
- // Random number generator function
- const rng = byteGenerator({ serverSeed, clientSeed, nonce, cursor });
- // Declare bytes as empty array
- const bytes = [];
- // Populate bytes array with sets of 4 from RNG output
- while (bytes.length < count * 4) {
- bytes.push(rng.next().value);
- // Return bytes as floats using lodash reduce function
- return _.chunk(bytes, 4).map(bytesChunk =>
- bytesChunk.reduce((result, value, i) => {
- const divider = 256  (i + 1);
- const partialResult = value / divider;
- return result + partialResult;

Provable fairness, implementation

- Random Number Generation
- For each verifiable bet, a client seed, a server seed, a nonce and a cursor are used as the input parameters for the
- function. This function utilises the cryptographic hash function
- HMAC_SHA256
- to generate bytes which are then used as the foundation for how we generate provably fair random outcomes on our platform.
- // Random number generation based on following inputs: serverSeed, clientSeed, nonce and cursor
- function byteGenerator({ serverSeed, clientSeed, nonce, cursor }) {
- // Setup cursor variables
- let currentRound = Math.floor(cursor / 32);
- let currentRoundCursor = cursor;
- currentRoundCursor -= currentRound * 32;
- // Generate outputs until cursor requirement fullfilled
- while (true) {
- // HMAC function used to output provided inputs into bytes
- const hmac = createHmac('sha256', serverSeed);
- hmac.update(`${clientSeed}:${nonce}:${currentRound}`);
- const buffer = hmac.digest();
- // Update cursor for next iteration of loop
- while (currentRoundCursor < 32) {
- yield Number(buffer[currentRoundCursor]);
- currentRoundCursor += 1;
- currentRoundCursor = 0;
- currentRound += 1;
- Server Seed
- To reveal the server seed from its hashed version, the seed must be rotated by the player, which triggers the replacement with a newly generated one.
- Client Seed
- The client seed belongs to the player and is used to ensure they have influence on the randomness of the outcomes generated. Without this component of the algorithm, the server seed alone would have complete leverage over the outcome of each bet.
- You can do this via the fairness modal.
- Nonce
- The nonce is simply a number that increments as every new bet is made. Due to the nature of the SHA256 cryptographic function, this creates a completely new result each time, without having to generate a new client seed and server seed.
- The implementation of nonce, ensures we remain committed to your client seed and server seed pair, whilst generating new results for each bet placed.

- Cursor (Incremental Number)
- We use 4 bytes of data to generate a single game result, and because SHA256 is limited to 32 bytes, we utilise this implementation of a cursor to give us the ability to create more game events without having to modify our provable fair algorithm.
- Hilo (Unlimited to cover required amount of cards)
- Moles (7 increments for 54 possible mole positions)

- Each of the 5 floats is independently mapped to a card using cumulative probability ranges, allowing for the possibility of receiving duplicate cards of the same rarity or multiplier within a single pack opening.
- In a Darts bet, two random float between 0.0 and 1.0 are generated, which are used as the distance and rotation to position the dart on the board. The rotation value is represented by 0.0 being the top of the dartboard, 0.5 being the bottom, and 1.0 wrapping back to the top. The distance value is normalized with sqrt(float) / 2, and is the distance from the center from 0.0 to 0.5, with 0.0 being the center and 0.5 being the edge of the board.

- In a Snakes bet, 10 dice rolls are generated between integer values 1 and 6. The values are added together for each round for a total of 5 pairs of six sided dice rolls per round.
- When playing Diamonds, there is 7 possible outcomes in the form of gems. To achieve this, we multiply each float generated by 7 before it is translated into a corresponding gem using the following index:
- // Index of 0 to 6 : green to blue
- const GEMS = [green, purple, yellow, red, cyan, pink, blue];
- const gem = GEMS[Math.floor(float * 7)];
- The player is then dealt 5 gems.
- Dice Roll
- const roll = (float * 10001) / 100;
- Primedice uses the same dice roll mechanism as the regular Dice game, covering a possible roll spread of 00.00 to 100.00, which has a range of 10,001 possible outcomes. The game event translation is done by multiplying the float by number of possible outcomes and then dividing by 100 so that the resulting number fits the constraints of our stated dice range. The difference with Primedice is that it allows for more complex betting conditions including rolling between two numbers, rolling outside a range, or rolling between two pairs of numbers.

- probability distribution
- const floatPoint = 1e8 / (float * 1e8) * houseEdge;
- // Index of 0 to 1 : left to right
- const DIRECTIONS = [left, right];
- const direction = CARDS[Math.floor(float * 2)];
- // Index of 0 to 36
- const POCKETS = [
- const pocket = POCKETS[Math.floor(float * 37)];
- // Index of 0 to 39 : 1 to 40
- const SQUARES = [
- const hit = SQUARES[Math.floor(float * 40)];

- Rock Paper Scissors rounds are generated individually for an unlimited number of rounds, except for in autobet which is limited to 20 max rounds. A number between 0 and 2 is generated for each round and assigned to rock (0), paper (1) or scissors (2).

- We use weighted random sampling to assign each float to its corresponding tile, in the same order, moving down the reels, from left to right. - Launch modern slots with some of the highest return-to-player (RTP) indicators in the industry on
- Stake
- When choosing a quality online slot, experienced players often focus on the RTP indicator. This indicator reflects the amount of funds that can be expected to be returned during a gaming session.
- Below we will explain in detail what the RTP indicator means and why it is important. We will also present a list of the best video slots with high RTP and the providers supplying for
- What does the return-to-player indicator (RTP) mean?
- Understanding how the RTP indicator works in online slots is easier than it seems. Imagine a slot with an indicator of RTP 100%. This would mean that over an average gaming session, all wagered funds are returned in full — no more and no less.
- Today the average RTP indicator in online slots is around 96%. This means that for every 100 units wagered, over the long run about 96 units are returned.
- Slots with high RTP have an indicator above 97%, and sometimes it reaches 98–99%.
- Which slots with the highest RTP are presented at casino Stake?
- Knowing the importance of the RTP indicator, you can consciously choose slots to play. If you are looking for slots with high RTP on Stake, we recommend starting with the following games:
- Megaways

- is deservedly considered one of the best in the industry.In
- Lucky Phoenix
- the Megaways mechanic is used, giving up to 117 649 ways to win on any spin of the main game. The slot is made in an East Asian theme, has an indicator of RTP 98% and a house edge at the level of 2%.

- Who creates slots with high RTP?
- If you are interested in games with a high RTP indicator, pay attention to the provider
- Advantages of games with high RTP and our tips for winning
- One of the most useful tips for anyone who plays casino games with high RTP is to always check volatility and the RTP level. Ideally, you should choose slots with high RTP and low volatility, bringing frequent but small wins. Slots with high RTP and high volatility pay out larger amounts but less often. Learn all about slot volatility in our detailed
- guide
- It is important to consider that in online slots with a progressive jackpot, the RTP indicator is usually significantly below the industry average. This is explained by contributions to the prize fund: part of each bet made goes toward forming the growing jackpot.
- We also want to emphasize the importance of bankroll management. Regardless of the RTP level of the chosen slot, allocate a strictly defined amount of funds for one session.
- How is the RTP indicator calculated?
- 1 420 000 divided by 1 500 000 = 0,94666
- 0,94666 x 100 = 94,66%
- In this example, the slot's RTP indicator is 94,66%. This result is below the industry average, which may have several reasons. Most often the reason lies in the presence of a progressive jackpot, since wins in such slots occur less frequently.

- Punto Banco Baccarat
- Baccarat Banque

- Origin of the name "Baccarat"
- The history of the origin of the game Baccarat in casinos is debated, however, according to one version, the name itself comes from the name of its creator — the Italian Felix Falguiere. There is another opinion that the name came from the Italian "baccara", which translates as "zero", because all tens and face cards are counted as zero.
- As the game spread throughout Europe, the French name "Baccarat" became widely used throughout the world over the centuries. Today baccarat is played in casinos around the world, and it was popularized by James Bond, who, when infiltrating casinos, was always at the top of his game at the baccarat table.

- What are live casino game shows?
- Live casino game shows are a modern format of live dealer games that combines the excitement of a traditional casino with the dynamism of television game shows such as Deal or No Deal. The mechanics can be based on different types of games, including classic ones such as
- roulette
- , but with the addition of interactive elements and visual effects.
- There is no single format for such games – each of them offers a unique scenario and features. However, one thing remains unchanged: a real dealer is always behind the gameplay, and the broadcast is conducted in high quality HD, creating an effect of presence.
- If you want to understand more deeply the basics and principles of how such games work, we recommend checking out our guide to
- live casino game shows
- Types of casino game shows and the best releases in live format
- At Stake.com you will find a wide selection of game shows for live casino – from adaptations of popular TV shows and table games to original formats created based on classic casino games. Below are some of the best options available to play right now:
- – a game show for football fans, where you bet on the home or away team winning in an interactive studio. This combination of sports excitement and live communication with the dealer makes each round especially engaging.

- – a dynamic game combining elements of bingo and lottery. In Mega Ball Live you fill winning lines, competing for big prizes and multipliers, while a live host maintains the tension and excitement at every stage.
- – an adaptation of the iconic board game, brought to life in a live casino format. Based on a spinning wheel, Monopoly Live retains all the beloved elements of the original and adds immersive gameplay that has become a favorite of Stake players.
- – a popular development from Evolution that turns a simple coin toss into an exciting casino show. Multiple bet levels, multipliers and additional modifiers make each round unpredictable and dynamic.
- – an original hybrid of bingo and the classic game Monopoly, where players look for multipliers and free cells to increase their chances of winning. The format is perfect for fans of strategic gameplay with elements of luck.
- – an accelerated version of baccarat with a unique lightning round feature, where each decision can bring additional wins.
- – one of the simplest yet most exciting game shows. Bet on the outcome of a roll of three dice and watch the process live, enjoying the spectacular presentation and the possibility of multipliers.
- Cash or Crash
- – a vibrant bingo-style game show with a dance floor atmosphere and a spinning money wheel. Set the rhythm of your game and fight for the maximum win – up to 500 000!
- – classic roulette in live format, which fully lives up to its name. The main feature is the mega multiplier, allowing you to win up to 500x your bet in a single spin.

Provable fairness, conversions

- Floats to Game Events
- Where the process of generating random outputs is universal for all our games, it's at this point in the game outcome generation where a unique procedure is implemented to determine the translation from floats to game events.
- The randomly float generated is multiplied by the possible remaining outcomes of the particular game being played. For example: In a game that uses a 52 card deck, this would simply be done by multiplying the float by 52. The result of this equation is then translated into a corresponding game event. For games where multiple game events are required, this process continues through each corresponding 4 bytes in the result chain that was generated using the described byteGenerator function.
- Shuffle of Game Events
- For games such as Keno, Mines, Pump, Chicken and Video Poker, where outcomes cannot be duplicated, we then utilise the
- algorithm. This procedure influences the conversion process from floats to game events because each time a game event is translated, the amount of possible remaining game event possibilities has been reduced for any remaining steps in the result chain.
- As an example, in video poker, there is at first 52 cards available in the complete deck, and therefore the first game event is translated by multiplying the float by 52. Once this card has been dealt, there is only 51 remaining cards in the deck, and therefore the second card translation is done by multiplying the second float generated by 51. This continues in the same fashion until all the game events required have been generated.
- With regards to Mines, Pump, Chicken and Keno, this is simply a matter of implementing the same process as explained with video poker but changing that to tiles or locations on the board or grid, ensuring that each game event generated, hasn’t already been done so beforehand in the chain of results.

- To play poker online at Stake.com, first register. After that, take a seat at the virtual poker table and get a chance at a big win.
- The goal of the game is to make a five-card combination that ranks higher than the combinations of other players. Each participant can use any combination of two personal cards (the so-called "hole" cards) dealt at the start of the game, and five community cards on the table (they are called "community" or "board" cards).
- A sequence of five cards of the same suit. In case of a tie, the combination with the highest card wins. A straight flush is beaten only by a royal flush or a higher straight flush.
- Four cards of the same rank plus one any additional card ("kicker"). In case of a tie, the player with the higher kicker wins.
- Three cards of the same rank and a pair of another rank. If two players have a full house, the one with the higher three cards of the same rank wins. If the three of a kind are equal, the winner is determined by the higher pair.
- A combination of five consecutive cards. The significance of the combination is determined by the highest card in the straight. Suits are not considered; only the sequence matters. If two players have straights, the one with the higher top card wins. If they match, the next most significant cards are compared, and so on.
- Three cards of the same rank. In case of a tie, the player with the highest kicker wins; if necessary, the second most significant kicker is compared.
- A pair of cards of the same rank and a pair of another rank plus one additional card (kicker). In case of a tie, the player with the highest pair wins. If the highest pairs are the same, the second pair is considered; if they are also equal, the kicker is compared.
- Two cards of the same rank and three unrelated additional cards. In case of a tie, the player with the highest pair wins; if the pairs are the same, the highest kicker is compared, then the second and third, if required.
- Any hand that does not fall under the above categories. In case of a tie, the player with the highest card wins; if that also matches, the remaining cards are compared in descending order until the tie is resolved.

- There are many myths and misconceptions about gambling. Understanding the odds allows for a more sober assessment of the chances of winning.
- Stake offers two products: casino and sportsbook.
- Both products have different odds and probabilities of winning that players should know in order to better understand the risks.
- The games include a house edge, i.e., a percentage of the total amount of bets that is returned to the establishment (in this case Stake).
- Every gambling game has an element of chance: it is impossible to control the outcome of a casino game or a sports event.
- Games/spins (or rotations) are not connected to each other. Their outcomes do not depend on the funds you have spent or the duration of your play.
- Odds and probability are criteria that describe the possibilities of winning. Although the probability of bets may seem low, there is no certainty in them.
- Game limits
- Loss limit
- The loss limit allows you to set a restriction on the amount you can afford to lose over a certain period of time. The limit can be set for one day, one week or one month. This is the net loss limit. Profit received during the set period is not taken into account when determining the limit. If you make a profit during the set period, you can use your profit to continue placing bets until you reach your loss limit. Unsettled bets are counted toward the limit. If you cannot place a bet, check your unsettled bets, as they may cause the limit to be exceeded.

Provable fairness, implementation

- The server seed is generated by our system as a random 64-character hex string. You are then provided with an encrypted hash of that generated server seed before you place any bets. The reason we provide you with the encrypted form of the server seed is to ensure that the un-hashed server seed cannot be changed by the casino operator, and that the player cannot calculate the results beforehand.
- All players are free to edit and change their client seed regularly to create a new chain of random upcoming outcomes. This ensures the player has absolute control over the generation of the result, similar to cutting the deck at a brick and mortar casino.
- The cursor is only iterated over when the game being played requires the generation of more than 8 (32 bytes / 4 bytes) possible outcomes. For example: when we need to use more than 8 cards in a game of blackjack.
- The cursor starts as 0 and gets increased by 1 every time the 32 bytes are returned by the HMAC_SHA256 function. If we don't require more than 8 random numbers to be generated for the game events, then the cursor does not increment as there is no need to generate any additional possible game outcomes.
- Games with more than 1 incremental number:
- Keno (2 increments for every game due to 10 possible outcomes)

- Pump (3 increments per game for 24 possible pop chances)

- Chicken (3 increments per game for 20 possible death chances)
- Plinko (2 increments per game to cover possible 16 decisions)
- Blackjack (Unlimited to cover required amount of cards)
- Video Poker (7 increments to generate 52 possible cards in a full deck)
- Snakes (2 increments for every game due to 10 total dice rolls)
- Flip (3 increments per game for 20 flips)
- Rock Paper Scissors (Unlimited to cover required amount of cards and 3 increments per autobet game to cover 20 max cards)

Provable fairness, game events

- Game events are translation of the randomly generated floats into a relatable outcome that is game specific. This includes anything from the outcome of a dice roll to the order of the cards in a deck, or even the location of every bomb in a game of mines.
- Below is a detailed explanation as to how we translate floats into events for each particular different game on our platform.
- Blackjack, Hilo & Baccarat
- In a standard deck of cards, there are 52 unique possible outcomes. When it comes to playing Blackjack, Hilo & Baccarat on our platform, we utilise an unlimited amount of decks when generating the game event, and therefore each turn of a card always has the same probability. To calculate this, we multiply each randomly generated float by 52, and then translate that result into a particular card, based on the following index:
- // Game event translation
- The only differentiating factor involved with these games is that with Hilo and Blackjack there is a cursor of 13 to generate 52 possible game events for cases where a large amount of cards are required to be dealt to the player, whereas when it comes to Baccarat we only ever need 6 game events generated to cover the most amount of playable cards possible.
- When it comes to Drill, we use an inverse formula to convert each random float into a crash point. The house edge (0.98) is divided by the complement of the float, creating a probability distribution where higher multipliers become exponentially rarer. If the float falls below 0.02, the drill stops instantly at 1.00x. This process is repeated three times to generate a crash point for each drill.
- // Game event translation with houseEdge of 0.98 (2%)
- A Flip game generates 20 separate game events, each representing the result of a coin flip. For each coin flip, if the value of the float is less than or equal to 0.5, the result is "tails", otherwise it is "heads".
- In our version of dice, we cover a possible roll spread of 00.00 to 100.00, which has a range of 10,001 possible outcomes. The game event translation is done by multiplying the float by number of possible outcomes and then dividing by 100 so that the resulting number fits the constraints of our stated dice range.
- When it comes to Limbo, we use a two-step process. Firstly, we take the float and multiply it by both the maximum possible multiplier and the house edge. Then, in order to generate a game event that has
- , we divide the maximum possible multiplier by the result of the first step to create the game event in the form of a crash point.

- // Game event translation with houseEdge of 0.99 (1%)
- // Crash point rounded down to required denominator
- const crashPoint = Math.floor(floatPoint * 100) / 100;
- // Consolidate all crash points below 1
- const result = Math.max(crashPoint, 1);
- For any game of Plinko, the generated outcome is based on the path of the falling ball. The game event determines the direction of the falling ball for each level in the falling process. Players can choose between 8 and 16 pins of play, which determines the number of game events required to generate a complete path from top to bottom. Since there are only two possible directions (left or right) the translation is done by multiplying each float by 2, which maps to the following index:
- Roulette Roll
- Our Roulette is derived from the European version of the game where the wheel consists of 37 possible different pockets, ranging from 0 to 36. The game event is calculated by multiplying the float by 37 and then translated into a corresponding pocket using the following index:
- Traditional Keno games require the selection of 10 possible game events in the form of hits on a board. To achieve this, we multiply each float by the number of possible unique squares that exist. Once a hit has been placed, it cannot be chosen again, which changes the pool size of the possible outcomes. This is done by subtracting the size of possible maximum outcomes by 1 for each iteration of game event result generated using the corresponding float provided, using the following index:
- A mine game is generated with 24 separate game events, in the form of mines on the board. Each float is multiplied by the number of possible unique tiles still remaining on the board. This is done by subtracting the number of tiles remaining by 1 for each iteration of game event result generated using the corresponding float provided. The location of the mine is plotted using a grid position from left to right, top to bottom.
- The fisher-yates shuffle implementation is utilised to prevent duplicate possible hits being generated. Between 1 and 24 game event results are used, based on the settings chosen.
- In a Moles bet, the player selects between 1 and 6 moles on a board of 7 holes. Each round, mole positions are generated using a fisher-yates shuffle across the 7 holes, consuming one float per mole. New positions are generated each round, with a game lasting up to 8 rounds (1 mole) or 9 rounds (2-6 moles).
- A Pump game is generated with 24 separate game events, in the form of pops at each round. Each float is multiplied by the number of rounds remaining. This is done by subtracting the number of rounds remaining by 1 for each pump.
- A Chicken game is generated with 20 separate game events, in the form of deaths at each round. Each float is multiplied by the number of rounds remaining. This is done by subtracting the number of rounds remaining by 1 for each step.
- The fisher-yates shuffle implementation is utilised to prevent duplicate possible hits being generated. Between 1 and 20 game event results are used, based on the settings chosen.
- A video poker game involves 52 separate game events, in the form of cards in a deck. Each float is multiplied by the number of possible cards still remaining in the deck. This is done by subtracting the number of cards remaining by 1 for each iteration of game event result generated using the corresponding float provided. This is done by selecting a card from the following index:
- The game event number is calculated by multiplying the float by the possible outcomes in the segment. It is then used to determine the game event result as a multiplier, using the following index:

- A Dragon Tower game is generated with 9 separate game events, in the form of the levels up the tower. We generate a number of eggs depending on the difficulty for each level, and have a range of tiles the egg can be on also represented by an integer.
- there is a cursor of 13 to generate 52 possible game events for cases where a large amount of cards are required to be dealt to the player, whereas when it comes to

Tool	Description	How to use
Self-assessment	A test of NOD out of 10 questions that will help you better understand your gaming habits.	Take the test on the "Responsible Gaming" page and answer the questions. It will take about 3 minutes.
Loss limits	Limit the amount you can lose per day, week, or month. The limit applies to net loss, so profit during the chosen period is not counted as loss when calculating the limit.	On the "Responsible Gaming" page, open the gaming limits section and select the "Losses" type. Specify the amount and period: day, week or month.
Betting limits	Limit the total amount of bets over a certain period. The limit takes effect immediately, and it can only be changed after a 24-hour waiting period.	On the "Responsible Gaming" page, open the gaming limits section and select the "Bets" type. Specify the amount and period: day, week or month.
Deposit limits	They allow you to control the amount of account top-ups over a certain period. If the deposit amount exceeds the limit, funds above the limit will be held. They will become available only after a new limit period begins.	On the "Responsible Gaming" page, select "Deposit Limits" and set a daily limit.
Take a break from play	Allows you to take a break for up to 30 days. After activation, you will not be able to place bets from your account, but you will be able to log in to withdraw funds.	On the "Responsible Gaming" page, open the self-exclusion section. Request a break from play and select a term: 24 hours, 48 hours, 7 days, or 30 days.

Field 1	Field 2	Field 3
Restricting access to a specific product	Blocks the ability to place bets on the bookmaker platform or play in the casino for a chosen period. The restriction can be set temporarily or indefinitely.	On the "Responsible Gaming" page, open the self-exclusion section. Request restricted access to a specific product, select casino or the sports betting section and specify the period.
Self-exclusion	If you already have gambling problems or a risk of developing them, self-exclusion allows you to close your account for an indefinite period.	On the "Responsible Gaming" page, open the self-exclusion section. Request self-exclusion and select the indefinite option.
